HOMILY

© Richard Leonard SJ

Some of us remember the provocative and frightening 1991 film Silence of the Lambs.

The image in the title refers to a childhood memory of CIA agent, Clarice Starling. In her interviews with the psychopath Dr Lecter, he gets her to talk about how she still wakes at night hearing the cry of the lambs as they were led to slaughter on her uncle's farm. This is a pivotal moment in Thomas Harris' book and the film. It is the leverage Dr Lecter needs to unsettle and unravel Clarice's well-formed defences. Clarice is revealed as vulnerable, because of the grief she carries from the violent deaths she has seen.

I remember empathising with Clarice's memory of the lambs. When I was a child I saw many sheep slaughtered on my family's properties. I can still see my uncle selecting one of them, holding it in the pen before its execution and then watching him do the deed. The scene should have been enough to turn me into a vegetarian! Alas, I got over my pity for the animal and enjoyed roast lamb a few nights later.

John's use of the metaphor of the sacrificial lamb in reference to Jesus in today's Gospel is meant to engender a similar empathy to that of the childhood memories of Clarice Starling. While there are many jokes about the stupidity of sheep, lambs still claim a spot in the hardest heart. They are pure, white, fluffy and defenceless. They demand nurture. And like their parents they don't seem able to smell danger very easily. They follow where they're led, even to execution.

For the agrarian Jews of Jesus' time the sacrifice of a lamb demonstrated how serious they were about atoning for their sins. Jewish law dictated that a lamb had to be killed at least once a year, at Passover. Such a sacrifice cost the shepherd big time. Lambs were currency. This was tithing writ large.

Saying Jesus is the Lamb of God is a shorthand way of telling us two things. The first is that Jesus is God's most precious gift; God's own self, given to the world that we might know how serious God is about us. God can give us nothing more than Jesus. As a result of Jesus' innocent suffering and death there is no need for any lambs to be religiously slaughtered ever again. We need to keep hearing this message because some Christians get caught into glorifying Jesus' suffering so much they get trapped in their own world of pain and go looking for more. Jesus never sought out suffering. He bore what came his way. And the same must be true for us. Christians are not meant to be smiling masochists. Most of us don't need to look for more suffering in our lives because we share in the Lamb of God's sacrifice in the ordinary downs of our lives.

Secondly, John would have known that 'talya', the Aramaic word for sheep, is the same word used for servant. The first hearers of this Gospel would have known it too. Jesus, then, is the servant who brings us the truth we need for life, who answers our deepest desires to know that our existence has meaning and purpose and he opens up for us the life beyond this one, where there will be no more weeping or sadness.

Jesus shows us that when we are baptised into his death and enter his service we also share in his resurrection and glory because he bears, and bears away, the sins of the world.

The Perfume of Holiness

© Fr Michael Tate

What does it mean to be 'holy'? It does not mean 100% morally correct, or separate from the great mass of people: 'Holier than thou'! It means being so close to God that God's holiness rubs off. We are adopted members of the Holy Family, and something rubs off.....

POPE LEO'S LENS

© Nick Brodie

While the familiar often feels comfortable, the Gospel reminds us to seek always to be ready for the Christ who approaches us from unexpected directions. This, Pope Leo explains, is why the Church's rediscovery of the synodal pathway is so important.

As the Pope says, the Church has reached a moment in its history when 'it is necessary to engage in a genuine synodal exercise, that is, to walk together in order to question ourselves, to begin some experimentation and to initiate a serene and frank discernment.'

This is a critical moment for us. The Pope wants us to realise that, if embraced willingly, 'these experiences can help us to discern the future.' The smallest of conversations can lead to great things.

The Pope offers the example of people struggling to find sufficient and dignified work. He urges us 'to be a Church close to the world of work, compassionate and embodied, so that the proclamation of the Gospel may become a concrete presence of consolation and hope.' In this light the Pope wants us to consider how we might adopt 'the style of proximity, listening to the struggles and hardships of the people.'

We should always remember that John urged his followers to look at 'the Chosen One of God' when he saw Jesus approaching.

Diocesan Office—SCAM EMAILS

New year, new scams! Be on the lookout for a fresh batch of scam emails appearing to come from Bishop Ken Howell or his Executive Assistant, Karen Morris.

Although this new scam email appears to target parishes, everyone should be mindful of suspect emails, especially those requesting information or making requests that seem out of the norm.

Remember....

* Legitimate emails from clergy, parishes and diocesan staff will always come from a TWB.CATHOLIC.ORG.AU email address.

* Bishop Ken and diocesan staff will never solicit sensitive information via email without prior contact.

* Bishop Ken and diocesan staff will never ask for gift cards to be purchased as payment or donation. If an email feels "off" or out of the ordinary, even if it appears to come from a TWB email address, please don't hesitate to contact the Diocesan Office on 07 46327589 to confirm its legitimacy (do not respond to the original email).

SCAM PHONE CALLS or TEXT MESSAGES

Over the last couple of weeks a few of our parishioners have received SCAM phone or text messages from Fr Brian Noonan requesting money or gift vouchers be sent. Fr Brian would like to confirm that he and all our priests would never request money through a text message or phone call.
