POPE LEO'S LENS

© Nick Brodie

'Education is not only the transmission of content,' Pope Leo says, 'but also the learning of virtues. It forms citizens capable of serving and believers capable of witnessing, men and women who are freer, no longer alone.'

Making these comments, the Pope wants us to recapture the true core of the Church's mission to educate. He encourages us to make sure our schools become 'an environment in which faith, culture and life intertwine ... a living environment in which the Christian vision permeates every discipline and every interaction.'

But he also notes what takes place outside of schools and universities. The family, he reminds us, 'remains the first place of education'.

In these changing times, he suggests, we must avoid any 'technophobia' that would see us withdraw from opportunities to put forth the Christian message – not only by teaching, but first and foremost by witness.

We do well then, to foster 'an educational style that promotes respect, personalised accompaniment, discernment and the development of all the human dimensions.' We should also embrace an educational mindset that 'is fulfilled and strengthened also through the contemplation of Creation'.

At certain moments, we are all educators. We therefore have an important vocation to, as the Pope puts it, 'cultivate a heart that listens, a gaze that encourages, and an intelligence that discerns.'

REFLECTION

Extraordinary things are accomplished through ordinary people.

We live in a world where appearances frequently matter more than they should. Contrary to this predominating tendency, Jesus teaches us that what we do flows from who and what we are. We can enlighten the world with the message of the gospel, because our lives have been transformed by that gospel and now we ourselves are light for others. We can serve others in various ways, only because we have been saved by God's grace and now we are agents of that grace in the lives of others. Our own renewal becomes the means through which God renews the world.

This may sound grandiose, but it isn't. It is the truth about the way God works. Extraordinary things are accomplished through ordinary people. Jesus grew up as the son of a carpenter; some of the apostles were fishermen; Paul was a tentmaker; we are clerks and teachers, bus drivers and doctors, bank tellers and engineers. Like Paul we come to ministry in weakness and fear and much trembling. It is the Spirit and power of God that work the wonders, and God works them through mundane elements of life such as light and salt.

As children, many of us learned the corporal and the spiritual works of mercy. We learned that we can practise them in every walk of life. Today's readings remind us of this. We may not be asked to perform extraordinary feats, but all disciples of Jesus are called upon to do the ordinary things of life in an extraordinary way.

Special Year of St Francis

800th anniversary of the death of St Francis of Assisi. (1181 or 1182 – October 3, 1226)

The Peace Prayer of St. Francis (Part II)

Though written in simple language, the Peace Prayer provides rich material for spiritual reflection. The following are some of my thoughts on the Peace Prayer inspired by the lines (printed in bold type) of this prayer and by the example of St. Francis.

Where there is hatred, let me sow love. In his 9th Admonition, called Charity, St. Francis tells his followers, "Our Lord says in the Gospel, Love your enemies (Matthew 5:44). A man really loves his enemy when he is not offended by the injury done to himself, but for love of God feels burning sorrow for the sin his enemy has brought on his own soul, and proves his love in a practical way."

Where there is injury, pardon. During the violence-ridden Crusades, Francis discovered a path of peace, pardon and non-violence. The "little poor man" went to Egypt to engage in a peaceful dialogue with Sultan Malik al-Kamil (head of the Muslim forces), a meeting in which a spirit of forgiveness, respect and understanding prevailed. Francis would have the same message for those in our times who are so quick to see violence as the only cure for terrorism.

Where there is doubt, faith. When, as a young man, Francis found himself in a fog of doubt as to the nature of God's care for him, he sought the face of God through prayer in solitary places. God opened Francis' eyes of faith. The saint saw a vision of Christ gazing at him from the Cross with such a look of love that Francis' "soul melted," to use the words of his biographer, St. Bonaventure. The fog of doubt lifted for Francis, and he went through the world setting others free from their own burdens of doubt.

(excerpts: www.franciscanmedia.org/saint-of-the-day/saint-francis-of-assisi)

Prayer of St. Francis of Assisi

(Prayer for Peace)

Lord, make me an instrument
of your peace:
where there is hatred,
let me sow love;
where there is injury, pardon;
where there is doubt, faith;
where there is despair, hope;
where there is darkness, light;
where there is sadness, joy.

O divine Master, grant that I may not so much seek
to be consoled as to console,
to be understood as to understand,
to be loved as to love.
For it is in giving that we receive,
it is in pardoning that we are
pardoned,
and it is in dying that we are born to
eternal life.

Saint Francis of Assisi astounded and inspired the Church by taking the gospel literally—following all
that Jesus said and did, joyfully,
without limit, and without a sense
of self-importance.
